

Professional Photography (and Floor Plans)

- a low cost optional extra, but highly recommended

A small extra cost for potentially a big difference

Depending on the property and the customer, this may not be of interest to everyone.

However, for only a modest additional cost, especially when compared with other agents, we would recommend this service for the majority of homes, especially those priced over £150,000, or with particularly attractive kitchens and bathrooms.

The cost is modest, especially when compared to an expensive, all-intrusive rotational camera used by some agents, which appears as an unwanted extra in every mirror, and scans everything from your kitchen waste bin, to your door hinges and toilet brush. We think ours is a far better offering for the majority of sellers and you can also have the benefit of a much superior floorplan, if required.

NEW - Video Tours

- another low cost optional extra, but highly recommended to help reduce risks whilst 'that virus' is around